

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Regular meeting of the Township Committee next Monday at 3.45 P. M.

There will be a meeting of the Governors of Mountaineers Hospital at Mrs. Ann Doherty's on Monday.

Wordsworth, Dickens and Longfellow were great poets. So are our letter carriers.

Edw. Owens, who was taken sick on Tuesday night in the woods east of the canal was sent to the Mountaineers Hospital on the orders of Dr. White.

James Connery, who works at Thomas (Lakes), was hurt by a bull on Wednesday at his farm on Broad Street. He got a bad wound on the leg.

The DeLaval Separator Works with the windows boarded up imparts an impression that the town is going to decay. Hope some live concern will soon occupy it.

The German Presbyterian Sunday School had a ride and a picnic at Dixon's Grove, Thursday. They started from the church at 9 A. M. and went off in high glee.

Wednesday afternoon a horse on the Bloomfield and Orange horse car line jumped dead at the corner of Henry and Ohio Sts., Orange. This was the first horse this line has lost from the heat this summer.

The infant class room of the Westminster Presbyterian Church will be enlarged and improved, the work on which will be commenced next week.

It is said that a man weighing 154 pounds has enough iron in his system to make a plow share, and enough phosphorus to make 500 matches. That must account for a man being so tough and going off so quick.

Several suspicious characters have been hovering around Bloomfield for several days but the police have not made any arrests. Without a looking there hardly seems to be any need to make arrests.

There has been no apparent improvement in the service upon the Newark and Bloomfield street railway. Will not the Township Committee please stir the animals up some more?

The Pin factory is having the building which was vacated by the Lister Surgical Works fitted up and will use it for the manufacturing of paper boxes. Geo. W. Cadmus, the builder, is making the alterations.

The Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias were out on the street and had a drill on Wednesday night. They propose to be as proficient as any of their visitors when Field day occurs.

Upon the complaint of Charles Sommers, Jas. M. Swirworth was committed to the County Jail by Squire Hall to await trial. He was arrested on the charge of forging Sommers' name to an order on E. B. Budd for a horse and wagon.

The Bloomfield P. K. U. V. are early in the field with the announcement of a ball and fair on Monday evening, November 7th, at Raab's Hall on Bloomfield Ave. They do not intend that their friends shall have an opportunity to say "you did not let me know in time."

Saturday night the quiet and peace of Railroad Place was disturbed by Fannie McKeever's husband assaulting her. He was arrested, made to pay the costs of court and bound over to keep the peace for one year. He would have been sent to jail, but when they got to court the wife released.

Some time since an Inspector of Licenses was appointed, whose duty it was to visit all the saloons, and to report how they were kept, the character of the men who kept them and the people who frequented their places. People would like to have the report from our Licenses Inspector.

The sermon by Dr. E. B. Coe, published in this issue, is one that ought to be read and to prove interesting to everyone, whether a church-goer or not. It is a simple, plain, candid presentation of the value of Christianity, not from any particular denominational point of view but from the broadest and most reasonable ground that can be occupied.

The Pokessee News in speaking of the death of a humble citizen of that place says he "sank slowly by every child in the neighborhood because he used to make fun for them." That is much better than to have the neighbors take the milk in for fear you will sour it as you pass by. The man who makes children happy is in direct communion with angels.

A dog belonging to C. Grimm on Wednesday attacked a little girl of Mr. Mortimer's and tore her dress badly but did not bite her. It bit one of his own children and afterwards was shot. There are too many dogs running loose on the streets. One or two of the letter carriers have had narrow escapes from curbs that have rushed at them on the street.

Thursday night some men who occupied the benches on the east side of the Park, indulged in language that was too coarse and filthy for anyone to hear. The same night a man and woman had seats on the Broad St. side and their language was of a character not fit for a public place. It does seem as if we should have police or detective who would see such miscreants into subjection.

A man hired a horse and buggy of E. B. Budd at 6 P. M. on Wednesday, since which neither he nor the rig have been seen. He said that he was going to Orange when the rig was hired. Justice Post issued a warrant for his arrest and B. F. Baldwin has gone in search of him. All the constables have been scouring the Country looking for him. The horse and buggy are valued at $250.

One drunken loafer accused another of being more drunk than he was late Wednesday night on Bloomfield Avenue above Rice Street. After abusing one another the least intoxicated one chased the other and knocked him down. Then he went to Powers' saloon and got a crowd to go and take a look at his victim, who fortunately had got away. All this occurred after midnight and the drunken orgies of these men broke the rest of an entire neighborhood. It is time some remedy was found for such disgraceful violations of the peace.

Hong Sing, who recently opened a laundry on Glenwood Avenue, was married Wednesday afternoon to Mrs. Carrie Dobbins, the young white woman who kept house for him and was supposed to be his wife. She has living with her a daughter ten years of age, and a detective came to Bloomfield on Wednesday with the view of taking the girl away from her mother, at the instigation of a woman who came with him from New York. While the detective and Bloomfield police officers were devising a plan of action Hong Sing and Mrs. Dobbins went to the office of Justice Wm R. Hall and were married.

The thunder storm last night was severe and did some damage to trees. The wire in the Truck house which connects with the East Orange Water Works was burnt out, but did no further damage.

Mrs. Ann Snyder, who fractured her thigh so that she will never be well in the Mountaineers Hospital. It is expected that next week she will be removed to the Home for Invalids at Newark. She is a soldiers widow and the Woman's Relief Corps will see to her personal comforts.

Wm. S. Pierson Post, G. A. R., will have a meeting to-night. All comrades who go to Washington should be present. All comrades of the Post should by all means make arrangements to go.

The ladies of the Hopkins Street German Presbyterian Church choir paid a visit to the German Theological Seminary on Wednesday. They brought their lunch with them and enjoyed eating under shady trees in the woods. They went home highly pleased with the beauty of Bloomfield.

Political Notes.

There will be a special meeting of the Bloomfield Republican Ex. Committee on Tuesday night. Business of importance will come up.

The Young Men's Republican Club will meet next Friday at 8 P. M. in their rooms on Glenwood Ave. The meeting should be a full one, as there is much matter of interest to come before the club.

It is thought that with the united effort of all Republicans, their candidate for County Clerk could be elected in Essex County.

Bloomfield has one or two Republicans who would make good runs for Congress. Edwin A. Rayner would have no objection to writing M. O. C. Fourth District behind his name.

On Monday, September 5th, which is Labor Day, the letter carriers of Montclair will have a picnic in the Montclair Opera House.

Notes of a Two Day's Trip Down East.

When one has not been away from Bloomfield for a while it makes him quick to observe everything as he journeys abroad. In these days of rapid transit you can in a short space of time cover a long distance and see a great deal. On the boat was a boy who was on his way home, I suppose, from the country, who was carrying a paper bag. He put the bag down on the seat by his side and popped the head of a young sampan reester who gave the boat crew he was capable of very much to the amusement of everybody.

Riding up in the Eighth Avenue horse cars there is much to be seen on one of the side streets a fierce fight was going on between two men, with four or five policemen going towards them, and one would think about three thousand people rushing from every direction to see what the row was. We met four funeral processions ere we reached 42d Street and saw three others on the side streets. This reminded us that the heated term had had its effect upon this walled-in city.

Eighth Avenue has one of the finest pavements that have ever been laid—being of concrete, and as fine a road as one could wish to drive over.

There seems to be a system at the New Haven Railroad depot which suits a person who is all nerve, and who of us is not? Instead of two men hawling one against the other they have bulletin boards which are explicit in their information; and you are quietly directed to the proper door which will lead you to your train. The early people had taken all the seats on the shady side of the car, so we wondered if a car could not be made so that all the seats would be on the shady side.

The ride to Greenwich is over a well ballasted and finely equipped road without any grade crossings. All the roads pass either under or over the railroad. Some day our State of New Jersey must adopt some such system which will give us both safety and speed. As we went by the station at Greenwich we saw on the platform the face of a Bloomfield friend, and at Haverlyton we heard of another very noisy Bloomfielder who had just made the twelve think there was no such place under the sun as Bloomfield.

We had a pleasant drive to Roton Point, which is a miniature Cape Cod. It is on the Sound, being a pleasant sail from New York, has a nice beach, bathing house and neat bathing suits. There was an excursion there from the twenty-fourth Assembly District, New York City, about four hundred Tammany Braves, who sat down to dinner with their hats on and coats off. Adjectives and superlatives figured extensively in their conversation.

Came back home with the Sabbath breakers, who appeared to be in the majority. Look in which ever direction you might your eyes would fall upon thousands of tired women with tired children. The elevated and street cars were packed with them, and so were the trains coming out into Jersey. What are these people to do? Jostled and pushed in the surging crowds at the beach and hustled into crowded cars—does the trip do them any real good?

Only recently had we known that there was such a street as Spring Street in Bloomfield and yet there are nearly a dozen or more houses already built and occupied—now we see Joe Abt is building one near the corner of James Street which he and his sisters will shortly occupy. Then on Baldwin Street, where they laid so much water pipe, a house is going up, which when finished will be occupied by a young bride.

Go where you will we doubt whether you will find as many dogs as there are in Bloomfield. Fifty cents a piece is the market value of them in Gotham, but here each person sets his own value upon his cur—except when the Assessor comes around and then the dog has just been borrowed for a day or two.

"Darkness and Daylight," or,

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF NEW YORK LIFE.

In this new and superbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman tells the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and rescue-work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such ringing words of "God-speed" from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold; its four authors being no less than—Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., Col. Thomas W. Knox, and Inspector Thomas Byrnes, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and "In His Name" spent many years as a city missionary literally "In Darkest New York." What a wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were. It is a story never to be forgotten. This unique volume presents these thrilling experiences of Christian endeavor with the hundreds of pathetic and amusing scenes that were packed into them; it portrays life in a great city by day and by night. "As Seen by a Woman," it shows the power of the Gospel to redeem souls from the lowest depths; it gives striking testimonies of the redeemed; and from all these rich and varied experiences it draws living truths for head and heart that are worth to any reader ten times the price of the book. Mrs. Campbell's account of rescue-work is full of wonderfully touching incidents. Stranger stories are here told than romance ever dreamed of, every one of them drawn from real life by a woman's hand. In every chapter, incident after incident, anecdote, story and the reader's attention is held breathless to the end of the volume. "Strange but most suggestive is the fact," says Bishop Cox in warmly commending this volume, "that Christ is to be visited in these dens and dives; there are those whom He will bear in mind when He says: 'Ye visited me,' or, when he says: 'Ye did it not to Me.'"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. In his introduction to it he says:—

"My interest in these phases of city life dates from my college days. From that day to this—over a third of a century—I have continued the studies then begun, and the subject of this book has been one of the great subjects of my study—sometimes in literature, often in life."

No appeal from temperance advocates can do more to promote the cause of temperance than the thrilling scenes and incidents so well described; at least so say Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and Miss Frances E. Willard.

One of the most absorbingly interesting portions of the book is that written by Inspector Byrnes giving the ripe experience of thirty years of detective life. Many of the startling revelations he makes are taken from his private diary. They have never before been published.

This fascinating volume is indeed a wonderful tale of Christian love and faith all alive with intense and striking reality. The best of it is that it is a pure and elevating book from beginning to end—a volume for the family circle. On this point the words of Rev. Dr. Twichell—who has a family of ten children! and Rev. Dr. Magoun, President Iowa College, are worth quoting here; Dr. Twichell writes:—"My wife says that she is going to set our young people on the book right off, for the good it will do them." and President Magoun says—"My family finds, where other books on our shelves lack interest, this one always holds and rewards attention."

It contains 252 superb engravings, every one of them made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flash light. Every face is a portrait and presents a stern reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night. He sees how the poor, the sick, the strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitors; he is taken into cheap lodgings, houses and cellars into the homes of the poor; into newswomen's lodging-houses; into the police and detective departments, etc.—nothing seems to be omitted. We do not know when 740 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. If we speak warmly of the book, it is because it richly deserves it. It is sold only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce such a work ought to be cordially welcomed. A better work has certainly never come to our table. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with ever increasing pleasure and lasting profit. The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of this first class volume. Royal Octavo, 740 pages. 252 fine plates, portraits, and text illustrations.
